LISEN TO THE MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE
Listen to the simple carol
Which our lips delight to sing—
Of the School your hands have planted
We have come some fruit to bring;
Come with faces all ill umined
By the beam your care supplies—
Beams of knowledge, which your kindness
Pours upon our mental eyes. Only those can tell who've felt it Whata darksome night was ours;
Only such, be truly thankful,
For the light that wakes our powers;
May that light which you have kindled
Spread its radiance everywhere,
Till the blessings we are reaping
All one sightless brother spare.

In the caves of old Kentucky,
Forms of awful grandeur stand
Wrapt about with rayless darkness,
Moulded by Jehovah's hand:
Yet if light streams in upon them,
O! what beauties are displayed—
So the light within us hidden,
We discover by your aid.

The examination which followed was altogethsatisfactory, and highly interesting. And then the House adjourned.

Mr. Casseday's Lecture.

We take sincere pleasure in publishing the subjoined correspondence, by a perusal of which it will be perceived that Mr. Casseday, of Louis ville, will, on Thursday night, deliver in Frank fort, his chaste and elegant lecture, entitled "An Evening with the Poets." The papers published in the cities in which Mr. Casseday has delivered his lecture, have uniformly passed the very high est and most gratifying compliments upon the beautiful effort of his mind. We know him to be possessed of a rich and fervid fancy, of an elegant and chaste delivery, and of a fine literary taste and scholarly attainments, and although we have not heard his lecture, we feel assured that it will be a complete success. He is an excellent critic, and as an elocutionist has few, if any superiors. We hope and trust, indeed, we know, that he will be greeted by a large and refined audience.

FRANKFORT, Jan. 26, 1858. We are confident that your reputation as a Scholar Critic, and Elocutionist, will ensure you a highly intel ligent audience.

To Gov. Morehead, Gen. Harlan, and others.
Gentlemen: Your flattering request of this date is received, and I will find pleasure in complying with it on Tuesday evening, February 2, 1858.

Very respectfully,
BEN. CASSEDAY.

We joyfully welcome Mr. Hemstead to our columns. His is true, genuine poetry. The whole intellectual composition of the man is full of poetical fire and genius. He has but to speak the sentiments of his heart, but to breathe forth the feelings of his soul, to pour forth in ecstatic gushes the sweetest melody and most glorious song. In this paraphrase from Horace, although he has succeeded, admirably and touchingly, he has had hardly room for the workings of his gorgeous fancy. We hope to hear from him again and frequently.

A Paraphrase from Horace.

My brain has reared a monument More durable than bronze And higher than the Pyramids' Fast, immemorial stones, Which not the rush of eating showers, Nor north-winds roaring breath, Norlightning swift, nor lagging hours, Nor Fate's inexorable powers Shall give to dusty death-I shall not perish all; a part Of me shall never be Where Libitians doleful plumes Wave o'er the fading eye, But downward to the latest day, While names wax old and States decay, My fame shall fresher grow, As rivers farther from their source Roll onward in more glorious course, With broader, brighter flow-While Priest and silent Vestal up The Capitol ascend,
My name shall roll and roll to meet The ages, but no end; Wi'ile Aufidus goes foaming down With silver-murmured tongue. With s. hout and flash and silvery dash The ro cks and boughs among; Where Da unus rules his small domain Of thirsty hill and parched plain, My glory sh'all be sung, and distant cliques shall hear of one

Though sprung of parentage unknown, Whose hand hat'h poured the fire

Some seek rewardsin lands of gold-

Through merchandise and blood and groans

Of finer souls and sa pphic art

Along the Roman lyre-

Avaunt, ye sordid souls! For you no deeper, hidden stream Of bliss eternal rolls;

Benevolent Institution, established by special endow ment for the relief of the sick and distressed, af-flicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases. ment for the relief of the sick and distressed, affalted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

MO all persons afflicted with Sexual Diseases, such as I. SPERMATORRHŒA, SEMINAL WEAKNESS, IMPOTENCE, GONORRHŒA, GLEET, SYPHILIS, the Vice of ONANISM, or SELF-ABUSE, &c., &c.
The HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the acceptions practised upon the unfortunate vicitims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases, in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS, to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c...) and in cases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINES FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add tha the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort, have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves, with renewed zeal, to this very important but much despised cause.
